Extra song on the European version of "Destination". OK song, nothing special, maybe even a tad depressing, no? Anyway, it's a really straight-forward song, no special licks or tons of guitars.
Behind the vocal intro there are some guitars, but I found it useless to transcribe them, 'cause they're almost the same as in the verse. Visit FreezeZone for more TABS!

Intro:

After the first two lines play:
```
     Am                   Amsus4            x4
e |---------------------------------|
B |---------------------------------|
G |---------------------------------|
D |-5---5---5---5----7---7---7---7----|
A |---7---7---7---7----7---7---7---7--|
```

Play Figure 1 over intro pattern.

In the end of first chorus play Fig.1 .

Break:
C G F
A F C
F C G

Cold Hard Heart

You said you'd love to watch me sleep
You put your head down on my chest to hear me breathe

Go on, take my last breath for me
I don't wanna live no more
Close my eyes so I can't see
I can't see you looking back as you walk out the door

Cold hard heart
Cold cruel heart
What's it gonna take
To break your cold hard heart

I was a lover? lost at sea
You found me washed up on the beach
You took me home, you gave me breakfest
I said "I'll offer you protection,
but you didn't charge a fee"

CHORUS x2

Solo

What you're hiding underneath that shirt
If you're the one to run to, babe the you don't feel the hurt

Hair so brown and eyes so green
You used to say I made good company
She'd bring me wine, a sip of tea
Maybe give yourself what you could give to me

CHORUS
Cold, cold heart
Your cold, cruel heart
What's it gonna take to break your
Cold, hard heart
What's it gonna take
