The newest song from the Jersey Syndicate. Nothing special, just a soundtrack song, (not even a guitar solo!) but since it's the first Jovi - song in a LONG time, I'll transcribe it for all you BJ - fans out there. In the verse the guitar doesn't play much, it's just bass and keyboards. I've included the chords though, 'cause this way it's easier to play alone... The riff (Riff 1) is played over the chorus, every time. Send comments, requests and corrections to my e-mail... OK, here goes:

Real Life

(Jon Bon Jovi / Desmond Child)

[Intro]

[Chorus 1]

[Rhythm Fig. 1]

I wish that life was like it is in the movies
'Cause the hero always gets his way
No matter how hard it gets on that dark, lonely road
At the end he's got a smile on his face

[Rhythm Fig. 2]

But when they threw me out to the lions
No one saved me as I fell from your grace
And no one wrote me new lines for what I said wrong
And what I did wrong I could not erase

[Chorus 1]

This is real life, this is real love
This is real pain, that much I'm sure of
These are real tears, these are real fears inside that I can't hide

[Rhythm Fig. 1]

I wish that I could be a white knight in armor
With an army just to bring you back home

[Rhythm Fig. 2]

But I'll admit I'm scared of dialing your number
And someone else is gonna answer the phone
Why can't it be like it is on TV
When the orchestra plays and you come back to me

[Chorus 2]

This is real life, this is real love
This is real pain that much I'm sure of
These are real tears, these are real fears inside that I can't hide
This is real life, this is real love
These are real wounds that I'm bleeding from
And I realize this is real

[Bridge]

I always thought that our love was a story book tale
God knows that I'd never dream in the end it would fail

[Chorus 2]

'Cause this is real life, this is real love
This is real pain that much I'm sure of
These are real tears, these are real fears inside that I can't hide
This is real life, this is real love
These are real wounds that I'm bleeding from
And I realize this is real
This is real life, this is real love
This is real pain, that much I'm sure of
